Scholarships from the HELLENIC CULTURAL FOUNDATION are now available to University of Arizona undergraduate and graduate students for study and research. The HELLENIC CULTURAL FOUNDATION is a Tucson-based non-profit organization that supports the study of Greek civilization at the University of Arizona. The awarding of scholarships is intended to promote excellence in the study of Modern Greek language, as well as ancient Greek history, literature, language, archaeology, anthropology, art, and philosophy. These academic scholarships are awarded to full-time University of Arizona students who have demonstrated enthusiasm and dedication to these fields of study and who intend to continue their studies of Greek culture.

In addition to the regular scholarships, The Chris Limberis Fieldwork Scholarship will be awarded this year to one or more students participating in archaeological fieldwork in Greece in the summer of 2018.
